

Role: social worker

(You will join in the middle of this exercise)

You are called by a nurse to the room of a 6-month-old boy whose parent just brought them to the emergency room after he rolled off a couch. When you arrive, the attending physician informs the parent that the hospital needs to report them to child protective services.

For this exercise, when you join the group, the attending will inform the patient they are admitting the baby to the PICU and reporting the case to CPS. The attending will expect you to explain the entire process so that they can leave the room and attend to other patients.